About Cygnet Wast Hills

Cygnet Wast Hills provides support for men with autism, learning disabilities and complex needs. In line with 'building the right support', we support individuals who have different levels of need in their own space which is tailored to their own sensory needs.

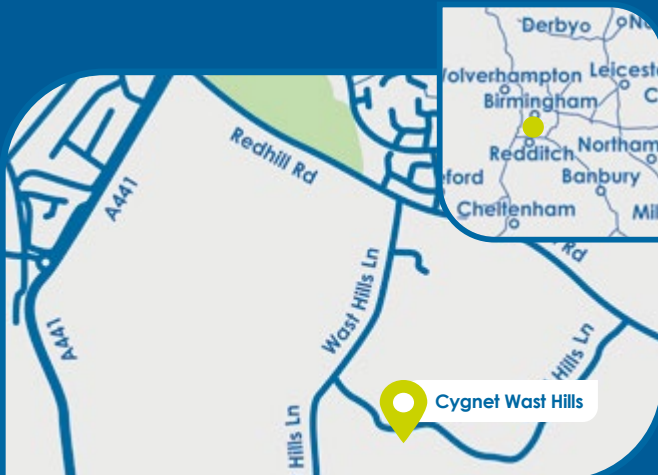

We have a number of bespoke living options, all of which are low-stimulus environments; some featuring private gardens. The extensive grounds provide ample space for individuals to enjoy outdoor activities or relax.

We would love the opportunity to show you around the improved facilities and give some insight of the highly specialised care and support we can provide.
