Cygnet Bury Forestwood Celebrates International Nurses Day

A hospital for young people in Bury celebrated the impact of its nurses on the lives of individuals with mental health needs.

Cygnet Bury Forestwood marked International Nurses Day on 12 May, recognising the vital skill, dedication and contribution of nursing professionals.

Located on Buller Road, Cygnet Bury Forestwood is a 44-bed CAMHS mental health hospital offering PICU, acute and low secure services for young people.

The hard-working nurses enjoyed a gift bag filled with nurse-themed goodies as a token of appreciation.

Ruth Emmott, General Manager at the Cygnet Health Care service, said: "We were proud to take this opportunity to say a heartfelt thank you to our outstanding nursing team. Their compassion, dedication, and professionalism have a profound impact on the lives of the people we support, as well as their families and colleagues.

"Every day, our nurses go above and beyond to provide high-quality care, ensuring dignity, respect, and support for those who need it most. Our nursing team plays a vital role at the heart of Cygnet Bury Forestwood, and their commitment does not go unnoticed."

Shane Mills, Cygnet Group Director of Nursing and Quality, recognised the exceptional contributions of nurses across the entire organisation.

He said: "Across our services, nurses demonstrate compassion, professionalism, innovation and leadership in the care they provide to the people we support, across Cygnet Health Care and Cygnet Social Care services.

"Our nurses' compassion inspires hope, their courage transforms lives and their presence proves healing is possible. We are thankful for our nurses' unwavering dedication and the life-changing impact they make every day."

Cygnet Group has a 2,000-strong nursing workforce across England, Scotland and Wales, making it the leading health and social care provider's biggest profession.
