Cygnet Paddocks Celebrates International Nurses Day

A hospital in Widnes celebrated the impact of its nurses on the lives of individuals with acquired brain injuries.

Cygnet Paddocks marked International Nurses Day on 12 May, recognising the vital skill, dedication and contribution of nursing professionals.

Located on Wilmere Lane, Cygnet Paddocks is a 28-bed neuropsychiatric rehabilitation service for men with acquired brain injuries or neurological conditions.

The hard-working nurses received personalised awards recognising their dedication, compassion and skill.

Charlotte Clemson, Occupational Therapy Assistant at the Cygnet Health Care service, said: "The hard work and commitment of our nurses does not go unnoticed. They go above and beyond every single day to support individuals on their journey to recovery. It was a wonderful opportunity to say thank you, not just today, but always."

Shane Mills, Cygnet Group Director of Nursing and Quality, recognised the exceptional contributions of nurses across the entire organisation.

He said: "Across our services, nurses demonstrate compassion, professionalism, innovation and leadership in the care they provide to the people we support, across Cygnet Health Care and Cygnet Social Care services.

"Our nurses' compassion inspires hope, their courage transforms lives and their presence proves healing is possible. We are thankful for our nurses' unwavering dedication and the life-changing impact they make every day."

Cygnet Group has a 2,000-strong nursing workforce across England, Scotland and Wales, making it the leading health and social care provider's biggest profession.
